Police On Duty As Crowd Mills Outside Building

Hoping to arrive at an amicable settlement of the strike, officials of the Swift Canadian Co. will have further discussions with a committee of the strikers Tuesday morning, it was stated by Gordon S. Robertson, general manager of the plant. We feel that our workers have been misled, poorly advised, and that the strike is without protest, he brought us together to obtain recognition of a recently formed union. No negotiations have been carried on with any agent of the union, stated Mr. Robertson.

The plant operations were suspended at 10:30 Tuesday morning, to prevent loyal members of the plant from being subjected to indignities by the strikers' pickets.

It was not anticipated that action to evict the strikers will be taken until all avenues to bring about a settlement have been exhausted, which may prove fruitless.

STRIKERS SITTING DOWN

In the meantime the strikers are sitting down in the plant, food and water being brought to them from outside. About 300 pickets patrol in front of the plant and 1,000 men who have been concentrated in the area ready to quell any disturbance which may arise. Most of the strikers are stated to have no connection with the picket line.

WORKERS SITTING DOWN

During the morning Major J. A. Clarke, K.C., as police commissioner, visited the plant and conferred with strikers and company officials.

CONSIDERABLE JOSTLING

When the plant gates opened Tuesday morning picket lines prevented entrance to the plant, it being claimed that only 50 workers got through the lines and that the remaining 450 were subjected to considerable jostling by the strikers, but no serious assault was reported.

Council Holds Hectic Session On Alternative

Major Clarke Assailed By Pro-Fortin Plan Aldermen Over Bulletin Story On Monday

BY RICHARD L. COOPER

Defending himself on charges by pro-Fortin plan aldermen that he had given the public a five-point alternative to the Fortin scheme before placing his idea before city council, Major Joseph A. Clarke, K.C., told councillors at a special meeting Monday that he had not officially placed his proposal before the aldermanic board because he knew it would be rejected by a majority of members supporting the Fortin Agreement.

The attack, led by Ald. J. H. Ogilvie, centred on a plan which Mayor George C. Price, Ald. J. H. Ogilvie, Ald. Maynard and two other members of the legislature and which was referred to him by the chairman of the Labour party exclusively Monday. He offered it as a substitute for the Fortin bond proposal.

Major Clarke, with the backing of Ald. Margaret Crang, fought off the attack, and the vote was taken.

Ald. Ogilvie and Ald. J. T. McCreath did not attend Monday's meeting, which was called for the purpose of discussing the proposed alternative to the Fortin bond proposal.

SIT-IN STRIKE IS PROCEEDING AT CITY PLANT

OTTAWA, April 6.—Senator J. P. Molley, Provinch Liberal, told the House yesterday that the people of Canada have no interest. Great Britain will have to fight it alone to protect its agriculture.

The Manitoban declared, referring on naval debate, that the people are opposed to Canada taking any further steps in the direction he had a humorous reference to an interchange of remarks in earlier debate between Senator Duff (Lib.) Antigonish-Gaspé and Senator Ballantine.

On this subject he said:

"It is the first time I ever agree in 20 years." Senator Molley declared, referring to the fact that the gentlemen tried to show they were more loyal than the other countries but ended up by confusing Freshwater.

General W. A. Griesbach (Conc., Edmonton) had indicated in his speech that he would be happier if Canada and other countries did nothing before it but end up by confusing Freshwater.

Sudden hostility has blazed out in the day when some men seeking entry to the plant were met by armed police and prevented from entering. The strike has been suspended for exhaustion—reigned along the dusty industrial belt.

AN OLD GAME

"The time when you do anything for the war is over," he continued. Canada has more than its share in the last war.

As what might be called a "refresher course" Senator Molley said to those who were not prepared to do up by confusing Freshwater.

"In the country 90 per cent of the men are opposed to Canada taking any further part in any European war," Senator Molley declared. "In the case of the university the students are 98 per cent opposed to what is suggested by General Griesbach."

EAGER FOR PEACE

One man interviewed in the plant confided to a desire to see an end to the strike. He had no apparent right to do so, but a peaceful settlement of the dispute, but admittance to the plant was not up to the company to make the first move.

Mr. Molley said: "We took them in at night, confer. We thought,

"that the men were peaceable and under.

UNIDENTIFIED CUT

That appeared to be the general tenor of the crowd of 300 men gathered around the plant door yesterday. The overwhelming majority here have been in the plant a few days and the strike has not yet been broken.

The civil servants have voluntarily contributed to the provincial treasury by way of deduction more than $100,000 year. This deduction will now be eliminated.

ELIMINATION CUT

Elimination of the voluntary deduction of 10 per cent or $300 from the provincial treasury for the civil service by way of deduction will be discussed as the result of the legislation introduced by Mr. Griesbach.

About half-hour a group of men gathered around the plant grounds to smoke and chat. No smoking is permitted in the plant.

"Hub," that is nothing to me," declared one. "I've got to get up to the plant every time before and am I going to it?"

The crew was largely interested in the strike. They play cards and unite late at night.

And the pickets wait for something to happen.

MAYOR'S ALTERNATIVE CAUSES HEKTIC SESSION

PRO-FORTIN GROUP DECLARER PLAN NEVER TOLD THEM

The reduction of the city's bank balance by $1,000,000 in three months before 1931, ample funds for their redemption now being available, was the only way of reducing the city's debt in any legislation dealing with public and private debts, either interest or principal reductions.

While the mayor's plan was introduced before the council, Ald. Macdonald suggested that on a point of privilege council be allowed to consider the whole question involved the welfare of the citizens.

Mayor Clarke: "I don't know just what you want to do, but go ahead." Ald. Ogilvie: "At the headlines."

KNOCKS FORTIN PLAN

Mayor Clarke: "I oppose the Fortin plan and I have the right to say what I please."

Ald. Ogilvie: "So much right."

You should have referred that plan to city council?"

Ald. Ogilvie: "It's been here many times."

Ald. Fry: "I'm surprised that the city council refers to the minutes to determine whether the mayor's proposals had been submitted to council or not. That's ridiculous."

Ald. Macdonald: "That was not done however."

Mayor Clarke: "I want the citizens to have a say in this."

Ald. Ogilvie: "How many of the aldermen thought that?" (He referred to the 12 aldermen who had appeared before Mr. Fortin. You were probably unable to attend, Mayor.)

Ald. Macdonald: "There were six."

Ald. Macdonald: "The aldermen jealously guarded the interests of the city. The people who had appeared before Mr. Fortin, were probably unable to attend, Mayor."

Ald. Ogilvie: "I think anyone who has a say in anything, should think that."

HAD ANOTHER

Ald. Ogilvie: "When the municipal committee discussed this question no alternative plan was proposed. But it was over the weekend get this out."

Mayor Clarke: "I didn't get it all up. Just the letter to Mr. Maynard."

Members of the mayor's brief to members of the opposition were then read by Ald. Ogilvie.

Mayor Clarke: "I was crossed out at the top of the page by the government committee and didn't get a chance to present my plan."

Ald. Ogilvie: "This purpose to be a scheme which would prevent the Fortin plan from going into effect."

The seven pages of the Bulletin front page editorial were then referred to by Ald. Ogilvie as a major factor in the proposed alternative plan. "I don't know whether you and the other aldermen are reading this paper marked adding Mayor Clarke."

PONDERS RELATION

Ald. East: "I was wondering about the relationship between the administration and this city."

Touching on Point No. 1 in Mayor Clarke's address, Ald. Ogilvie said the suggestion of payments to the sinking fund for the years 1937, 1938 and 1939. Ald. Ogilvie said he had a suggestion of our debt for three years until it was paid off.

With regard to the cancellation of the city's own bonds in the sinking fund, making it unnecessary to pay off the debt, Ald. Ogilvie said this step could be taken under the Fortin plan.

Ald. Ogilvie: "It's a legalized robbery. Nobody but yourself and one other alderman, probably, would support it."

CLAIMS SUPPORT

Mayor Clarke then told council he had five men working with him for five months to prepare his budget, putting out the details of his proposal.

"They all supported the scheme," Ald. Ogilvie said. "They're aldermen."

Ald. Clevey: "They don't count."

Mayor Clarke: "They do count. They count as much as they can."

On the other hand, the mayor's plan which would permit the city to sell its electric power, the other bond and sinking fund, uses the proceeds to extend city-owned utilities and reduce the bank overdraft. Ald. Ogilvie charged such

PARTY LINES SEVERED ON WILL DUTIES

Bowlen Amendment Finds Favor On Social Credit Side

Party lines were broken in legislative session, sitting in committees of the whole, finally reported for third reading, a bill giving widened powers to the government in the matter of collection of assessments.

The bill was advanced after an amendment by John J. Bowlen had been defeated on an unrecorded vote in which Hon. W. N. Chan, minister of agriculture, and 14 other members of the party had voted with the Bowlen measure.

Mr. Bowlen: "If the clock can show where your plan was before council I've nothing more to say."

Ald. Ogilvie (speaking mayor): "I want a plan to submit now as an alternative to the Bowlen plan."

Ald. East: "I'd like to know if you have been properly quoted in the press and what your plan is your own words."

Ald. Macdonald: "Are you prepared to say it is your opinion?"

Ald. Ogilvie: "I'm prepared to hear it."

Ald. Macdonald: "When we have various questions on the Fortin plan, we open it up to members of both the school boards and the city council. We have been asked, may I ask, whether Ald. Gowen was present at any of these meetings?"

Ald. Gowen: "I wasn't."

Ald. Macdonald: "The aldermen jealously guarded the interests of the city. The people who had appeared before Mr. Fortin, were probably unable to attend, Mayor."

Ald. Gowen: "There were six."

IF IT WILL HELP ALBERTA THE EDMONTON BULLETIN IS FOR IT

TUESDAY, APRIL 6

THIS WILL HELP

Hereafter the Alberta motorists approaching this area at night will not only be expected to drive his car, but will be required to do so. What the highest law of courtesy and sense will in future be also a statutory law, with penalties attached for ignoring it.

Most drivers will welcome this tightening up of the law. The minority are those who make such laws as "good as gold" will be free of a good deal of their danger and suffering, because where reason has failed authority is to be applied.

ENOUGH OF THAT

The special observer of the Albertans says ("The petition to the Premier to resign" appears) "not an Insurgent, but a Government, had ever been so open and frank a few days ago in support of the much-needed budget." But "The Insurgents, ever on guard, were suspicious of cabinet initiation of the petition."

The aim, it appears, was to find out how strong the minority were, and the government stated: "A serious condition has arisen in some school districts, particularly those immediately affected, which makes it necessary to attempt to expedite legislation on government funds, particularly to those districts teaching in accordance with the School act, there is little cash available for the person at present in charge of the school or for current expenses. This situation cannot continue indefinitely."

But it continues. And however conditions may improve, the "petit" cannot clear away automatically in less than two or perhaps three years.

Here again the legislature should step into the picture. Some scheme of increased grants, smaller grants, or grant of credit, should be made available to those schools which will be able to pay salaries as they are earned.

With all respect to technical opinion, these very practical questions of teachers' pay are more direct and vital importance to the school system than any other. Any real any lasting of the course of study, consolidation of school districts, or changes in the methods of teaching. Contented and interested teachers make good schools under any system, and nothing else can do it.

The legislature should do something about these matters.

Fifty Years Ago

From the Files of the Edmonton Bulletin

The news appearing in last week's telegrams that Sir John A. Macdonald is to retire from the leadership of the Conservative party, to become Minister of Finance, is somewhat of a disappointment, but it is very likely to be true.

There is no man in the party who would be really equal to the task as leader of the Conservative party.

With other factors, than the better elements of the Conservative party should round Blake, who is sufficiently Conservative in his Liberalism, and who, retaining the more conservative, is to be able to form a stronger government than any other man in public life today?

The people of Lethbridge and southern Alberta generally, having by their vote, when the choice was offered them, endorsed monarchical instead of republicanism, the government must be held responsible for the determination at which they had almost apparently arrived at, to do away with the "penny bonds" which the Ministers will not accept.

For shame sake the latter imposition should be removed now, it is known to the members of the cabinet that excuse them not. And when any reasoning is done it should be done first in the salaries of the non-too-well paid ranks of the civil servants.

FASCISM NOT WANTED

In his Sunday address, Premier Aberhart expressed the view that "any 'fascist' idea, 'Nazism' or not 'not' for it, if the people of the province generally do not want the fabric of life with which they are familiar torn to pieces, and chaos and confusion brought in. In particular they do not want regimentation, in all the broad implications of that term, and will not stand for it."

A good deal of the Premier's present trouble has arisen because some of his colleagues seem to have got the notion they could use Social Credit to further their own ends, and while they could make themselves political dictators in things economic as well as political. The discarded licensing bill and the discarded price-fixing bill are instances of the outcropping of this kind of Mussoliniism.

That Fascist impulse will have to be abandoned absolutely. It just won't "go" with the democratic people of Alberta. If Social Credit or not "not" for it, if the people of the province generally do not want the fabric of life with which they are familiar torn to pieces, and chaos and confusion brought in. In particular they do not want regimentation, in all the broad implications of that term, and will not stand for it."

FOURTY YEARS AGO

Mrs. W. H. Durdle and John W. Giltan leave Saturday for the Caribbean.

At a meeting of the Edmonton Butter and Cheese Manufacturing Co., held in the Hotel Alberta, the following officers were elected: President, John Kennedy; vice-president, T. G. Hutchings; secretary-treasurer, A. C. Rutherford; directors, S. Simmons, R. Ritchie, J. Menseley, N. White, G. Doze, D. B. Wilson and Henry Long.

THIRTY YEARS AGO

The Society of Equity plans to build a farmer's elevator at every important shipping point in the province.

Ottawa.—Lord Aylmer has returned from a tour of inspecting general of Canadian forces.

Mr. Mackenzie, Minister of Supply, Washington.—An interministerial commission has been appointed to consider all questions relating to the water boundaries between Canada and the United States.

The immunities of the city are taking steps to form a union.

TEEN YEARS AGO

The provincial government are preparing to install telephone cables on their own poles, and will not require the use of city lines for their routes opened after June 1, according to advice given the commissioners.

London—Britain, the United States and Japan are expected to present a demand upon the Cantonese government for reparation for the Nanking outrages.

The rank and file Social Creditors would not submit to be registered, numbered, tagged, ticketed and leashed around by an army of snappers and meddlers. And certainly non-Social Creditors would not.

TEACHERS' PAY

If the salary question occupied a good deal of attention at the convention of Alberta teachers last week, the reasons for this were made plain by Mr. Frank Oliver, president of the Alberta Teachers' Association, in two grounds: that the minimum salary set by law is not being generally adhered to; and that teachers are in a very large number of cases not being paid at all regularly.

Both these grounds are, of course, traceable to the prolonged depression, which hit the rural school taxpayers particularly hard. But knowing how the conditions came about does not help the unpaid teacher to get along, nor does it help him to get his pay, or to defend his position and try to better his preference.

Both are subjects with which the legislature should have dealt two or three years ago, and which it cannot continue to disregard without doing further injustice to the teachers and students, and the interest of the schools.

On the first score the convention was told the department last year dealt with 4,000 applications from school boards for permission to employ teachers at less than the legal minimum. Which means that there have been many more cases, drawing the minimum, or more than. For in 1933 there were only 3,440 school districts operating, with a total of 3,815 rooms. Obviously the minimum did not mean much now. In fact, out of five thousand, the teachers and students are in need of the schools.

For that it is idle to blame the teachers, as there has been some attempt to do. The teacher has to live, and in most cases has to take what he can get. He has to live on a salary which is below the standard with the choice of accepting a sub-standard salary or not getting the school, there is no mystery about what the applicant teacher will do.

This is a matter for the legislature to deal with. If the teacher is to live, but it should be done in a manner to make equivalence possible. If it is not too high, some arrangement should be made by which the school boards can fulfill payment until the times improve and the taxpayers are able to meet their tax levies properly.

The same applies to the question of non-payment of salaries. The last report issued by the department stated: "A serious condition has arisen in some school districts, particularly those immediately affected, which makes it necessary to attempt to expedite legislation on government funds, particularly to those districts teaching in accordance with the School act, there is little cash available for the person at present in charge of the school or for current expenses. This situation cannot continue indefinitely."

But it continues. And however conditions may improve, the "petit" cannot clear away automatically in less than two or perhaps three years.

Here again the legislature should step into the picture. Some scheme of increased grants, smaller grants, or grant of credit, should be made available to those schools which will be able to pay salaries as they are earned.

With all respect to technical opinion, these very practical questions of teachers' pay are more direct and vital importance to the school system than any other.

Any real any lasting of the course of study, consolidation of school districts, or changes in the methods of teaching. Contented and interested teachers make good schools under any system, and nothing else can do it.

The legislature should do something about these matters.

Treatment Of Sinus Trouble

By DOCTOR FRANK MCDOUGAL

In my previous article I explained that chronic catarrh often accompanies chronic sinus trouble. The principal cause of catarrh and of chronic sinus trouble is a toxic condition of the blood stream. When this is present, the blood stream will carry sufficient toxic material to the sinus cavities to cause the mucous membrane lining them to be continually irritated and congested.

In my previous article I explained that chronic catarrh often accompanies chronic sinus trouble. The principal cause of catarrh and of chronic sinus trouble is a toxic condition of the blood stream. When this is present, the blood stream will carry sufficient toxic material to the sinus cavities to cause the mucous membrane lining them to be continually irritated and congested.

Neither the nose nor the accessory cavities which open off of it, like the maxillary sinuses, are considered to be important in the development of chronic sinus trouble. In the treatment of sinus trouble we must look for those faulty habits of living which create the underlying toxemia.

Exercise, diet, constipation, inactivity, and lack of sleep are all considered potential causes of sinus trouble inasmuch as they create a toxic blood stream. Once this toxemia is established, the resistance of the patient inevitably becomes lowered, and the body becomes less able to resist sinus cavities to lose its natural immunity to disease.

In any treatment designed to relieve permanently the sinus inflammation the first thought of the patient must be to get the blood back to its clean healthy state. With the maximum use of tonics and stimulants from the blood itself, the mucous membrane lining the sinus which is chronically inflamed will tend to return to a normal, healthy state.

The treatment which I have found to be most successful in the treatment of sinus trouble is the combination of local ultra violet ray treatment and the use of mild antiseptic washes to provide better drainage and to remove the sinus secretions.

These measures which will improve the functioning of the vital organs are to be encouraged and regular exercise, sufficient rest, and exposure to plenty of sunshine, are excellent aids to health.

Local heat treatments given with the ultra violet ray will prove a good substitute. Experience has demonstrated that sunshine, fresh air, exercise, sleep and right diet tend to raise the resistance of the body and to reduce sinus troubles.

Fingertips Should Receive Daily Care

By GLADYS GLAD

Over in Monroe, oddly enough, the process of shortening the fingernails is a daily one. It is held that the fingers are shorter than the toes on any days other than Tuesdays or Fridays, a consequence of most of the Miss Maudsies giving their nails only weekly attention.

One doesn't have to go to Monroe, however, to find girls who give their fingernails special care. There are many here at home who think that all they require is a weekly manicure.

Of course, it is not expected that you give your nails a complete manicure every day. You do certain items of care that you should make a daily practice. The following are some of these:

1. Inspect your fingernails for signs of disease. If you notice any, consult a doctor.

2. Trim your fingernails to be sure they are the same length.

3. Paint your fingernails with a delicate outline to be sure they are well-shaped.

When the half-moons are perfectly shaped, you can be sure the property is shaped. They add greatly to the beauty of the fingertips. Yet it is important to remember that it is not safe to keep the half-moons perfectly exposed. For instance, special care should be given to the nail and to conceal them.

DAILY CARE NECESSARY

The whole trick in preserving attractive half-moons lies in giving them proper care. A bit of oil should be wiped over each tip of an orangewood stick, to make sure the oil is absorbed and then dipped in cuticle oil or varnish oil. Then each nail should be gone over with a soft cloth to the cuticle. Next, the orangewood stick should be passed over the nail to gently push back the cuticle gently pushed back. This should be repeated over each finger. This will give the cuticle a good hold on the nail and help to keep the cuticle supple and in good condition.

After rinsing your hands, take your towel and go over the whole hand. Use a soft cloth. First dry the hands then rub the towel from the tip of each nail up to the cuticle. Then rub the line of the cuticle with a firm massage movement. After cleaning the hands, this same gentle, good hand lotion or skin balm should always be used in order to continue the drying and skin-cleansing and to keep the hands soft and smooth.

After massaging a lotion of this sort into your hands, always give your hands a final massaging with a soft cloth. This will help to remove the remains of hangnails, and will shape the half-moons more attractively.

As far as I am concerned, there is no man can understand the importance of neatness, clean appearance, attachment to clothes. The best that a husband can do is to put the fact and give his wife as generous a dress allowance as he can.

radio singer, has pretty hands.

Women do judge other women by their clothes and for a perfectly valid reason. It is the outward and visible sign in ninety-nine cases out of a hundred of what the woman really is. Women get their politics from their friends, their husbands from their wives. Her clothes are a reflection of her and they represent their taste and judgment.

So when a woman wears a strong woman, she gives her the answer and says herself: She is a strong woman, she should be ashamed to see out with her. She has no sense of fitness or appropriateness.

It is the same with men. A man's body is wearing that length this season. Or she would say: That new woman is smart. She is up to the minute. But she is the interesting and woman knowing.

That is why it is a man to give his wife as good clothes as can afford him. It keeps her happy, for one thing, and, for another, every wife is her husband's show window to a great extent and people judge his success by her appearance. I once heard a man say: "I'll never let my wife come along with me by the way I am dressed." He said to her, "because people are bound to think that I am poor a doctor that I have no practice, or else so strong that I beggar my wife clothes."

But, as I said, no man can understand the importance of neatness, clean appearance, attachment to clothes. The best that a husband can do is to put the fact and give his wife as generous a dress allowance as he can.

Looking Them Over

By Jack Kelly

The Boys Impress

"It's A Long Road"

Diamond Degrees

FOR years now Vancouver has been Canada's leading fight city with its own Fred Osborne, Tom Wilson, and others carrying the torch in fistful circles, but there are now definite indications that Edmonton's day in theistic spotlight is not far away. The two major indications are George Shanks and Mickey McGuire. Both will be in action on Promoter Fred Osborne's next club fight at the Memorial Hall on April 14, and as they went through training drill last night at the Queen Elizabeth Gym they gave the boys something to get really enthusiastic about.

Honest! One of the greatest middleweights the west ever produced, Osborne is super-critical when it comes to fighters and in the gym he is about as talkative as a clam, but even he couldn't suppress an enthusiastic word or two as George and Mickey did their stuff.

"They're the best looking prospects I've ever seen," Fred chuckled. "I don't know if they'll ever be world champs—or even close to it—but there is plenty of grit and determination in both of them. It's the fighter's own mental attitude. Some of 'em get so wise and cocky after they win a few fights that no one can tell them anything. They're done once they get like that. Some of them have the ability and punch, but they don't like the game and they can't take it when the game gets tough. Then others haven't got the ambition to keep on going the hard way when they start to make money. They begin to take it easy and that's curtains for them."

No Pipe Dreams

IT'S NOT building us any pipe dreams about Mickey and George—yet. But for those have ever thought that either of them would rather fight than eat, they've got that fighting heart that nobody can train into a man, they've got the physique, speed and power—and they are anxious to learn. Neither is 19 years old yet. More than one gun has been a champ who had less than that to start with.

McGuire was on Hilare Lemay in the semi-final next week, while Shanks meets Dick Johnson of Ponoka. In this heat, his heart is set on the semi-final. It is not the first time he has been given. Johnson has polished up his beans a lot in the last few months and he has learned to land a hayse punch. He has been wanting this fight with Shanks for the past two months and it should be really something to see.

In the main event, Louis Lavelle will start his come-back drive when he tackles Jimmy Wilson from Saskatoon. Wilson will be the first Saskatchewan man to fight in Edmonton this season. He has piled up an impressive record in his previous contests and is in the middle of a training grind that will send him into the ring the pick. He is driving off miles of road work around the city daily and driving his sparring partners to cover with a slashing attack. Wilson is expected to arrive in a couple of days to complete his training here.

'Varsity Men Filling Clubs

IT wasn't so long ago that if you wanted to find an old college classmate you first of all looked up all the local bond salesmen in town. Now you simply get the last edition and check over the day's box scores. College men are flooding into major and minor baseball in a steadily growing stream. Duke University will have 16 former stars in pro ball this season, most of them getting seasoning in minor circuits, but under contract to major outfields. This is only one example. Many other colleges have an equally impressive placement, among them Fordham, Columbia and Yale.

Many of these graduates owe their education to baseball. Some years ago, the more fore-sighted clubs adopted a policy of signing promising high-school players. Most of the parents felt that the boys should complete their education before going into pro ball, so the clubs agreed to let the boys go to college. The boys were sent to a really competent ball coach—who's salary was paid by the major clubs. Jack Coombs, formerly of the Athletics, is the Duke coach and Connie Mack makes a regular contribution to his salary.

BOWLING

Winners in the ninth annual 5-pin tournament were announced officially last night with Ken Stewart capturing the men's title and the women's title. T. Eaton Co., Ltd., sponsored the event. Stewart led the Singers "A" division, while Prince was runner-up. In the Senior division, Alvin Kells took first place with T. Morris and Marge Allie placing second and third respectively.

L. Cameron took the men's group aggregate. The boys were sent to a new learning where there was a really competent ball coach—whose salary was paid by the major clubs. Jack Coombs, formerly of the Athletics, is the Duke coach and Connie Mack makes a regular contribution to his salary.

GOVERNMENT ASSAILED ON CANNERY LOAN

Bowlen Dubious Of Financial Condition Of Company Helped

Government loan of $10,000 to the National Food Products, Ltd., of Brooks caused one of the heaviest weapons bearing down on Premier Aberhart to become a little less potent in legislative session on Monday.

When Hon. Ernest C. Manning, provincial secretary was plodding through the committee of the whole, the bill to confirm the $10,000 loan to the brewer of the Liberal '90 can and Conservative opposition boomed.

PROMOTION IDEA

John J. Bowlen, Liberal house leader, told the government on the whole loan, stating that the venture under consideration was a promotion idea and that the loan funds had been placed at the disposal of promoters.

Mr. Bowlen, Alberta Conservative leader uttered a warning to the government against lending large amounts to persons or organizations.

Hon. Mr. Manning, who at the time the loan was given, was minister of agriculture, said that the stout defence of the government action was:

"He said that the government had made the loan only after the banks had failed to supply it and that in the future no loan would be given on a government guarantee."

SERIOUS LOSS

He said that it was only by reason of exceptional circumstances surrounding the situation and to avoid a serious loss of a community enterprise, the government had authorized the loan. This loan, he declared, was amply secured against loss.

W. E. Cain, S.C., Bow Valley, said that he defied the critics and said that resulting from establishment of this factory, farmers were deriving a great benefit from the revenue source that the bill had not before have.

It was brought out during the discussion that the company was formed to operate a cannery factory at Brooks.

"This act provides that the government can guarantee securities of a company that may have no natural resources. The authorized capital of the company shall not exceed $100,000."

It also was held that the company may have available in cash or liquid assets not less than 60 per cent of its issued capital.

LOSS OF $4,000

Mr. Bowlen said that he had a statement to make concerning the bill and if the government had given it money, the people should be in favour of it. He said that the bill had a loss last year of $4,000 on its operations. Some of its buildings were destroyed by fire and the machinery in them.

It was a co-operative proposition he said, and the promoters had put very little if any money into the proposition.

The minister declared he was entirely mis-informed and Mr. Bowlen replied that he was willing to put his name to the bill. The bill in the hands of every house member, what he said was incorrect.

The minister objected, stating that a portion of the bill had been in members' hands for some time.

BUILD CANNERY

The company, he said, proposed to erect a cannery factory, as well as a cannery, to produce fruit juice or promotion stock. Stock was to be split so that one third would go to the government, one third to the producers and one third to the retail merchant.

The question was raised by John J. Bowlen, house leader as to whether the Public Works department had asked for the first $30,000 subvention from stock sales.

The minister said he was unaware of any term laid down by the utility board.

GEORGE HOADLEY IS CITY VISITOR

George Hoadley, health research chief for the Canadian National Committee for Mental Hygiene, and Alberta's minister of health and agriculture, was visiting the Farmer regime, it was visiting the city.

Mr. Hoadley came from his Ottawa office with Dr. W. C. Cross, minister of health, and other officials in western provinces. He was interested in the passing interest in Alberta's political problems but declined saying anything for publication.

BLAZE RAZES STORE, HOME

BEVERLY, April 6.—Fire completely destroyed the store and residence of H. Waluk, here, about 2:30 a.m. Sunday, forcing Mr. and Mrs. Waluk and their four children to flee the burning building into their living quarters at the rear.

Although nothing was saved from the home, the wife, who had been in the fire unburned after Mr. Waluk had already burned his hands trying to rescue her, suffered slight damage to $1,500 to $2,000.

One of the boys ran to a neighbour's house to call the fire department and when the family miles him, he found the fire was still in the building and directed efforts were made to locate him.

Mr. Waluk, who is believed to have caused the fire, was arrested and it is reported the prosecution was carried and it is reported the prosecutor intends to rebuild.

Most birds nesting in dark places lay white eggs, which are more easily seen.

THE Royal Road TO THE CORONATION

The Royal Engagement Was Enthusiastically Welcomed.

ROMANCE comes to Prince Albert at the close of his years of war service, a romance that was to receive a tremendously enthusiastic reception from the people of Great Britain.

Not considered at that time as being heir to the throne, the Duke of York perhaps was less governed by the dictates of state politics than had he been the King himself, when he had the privilege of freely seeking the heart of the woman he loved.

Today the Duke and his children, the possibility that some day soon he would create a crown, and that a great deal of public interest spring from the crossing could be seen in the faces of the hard-working and conscientious, and the cheerful and vigorous young men and women of Stratford. It was not until the end of the war years, when England and the world were too busy to forget the horrors, that a new upsurge of enthusiasm that friendship could bring.

To the revelation of the betrothal, there was a shout of "Hurrah," and Major General Sir Alexander Murray, King George V's personal aide, was among those who responded to the news.

Born at the family estate in Stratford, the Duke, who has spent entirely at home until she passed the Oxford examination, Lady Elizabeth Bowes-Lyon is the daughter of the Queen, the second son to the Scottish noblewoman.

NOTHING DONE BY ABERHART, SAYS LIBERAL

Tremblay, Member For Grouard, Heard By Young Liberals

Speaking before the Young Men's Liberal Club in the McLeod Building club room last night, J. H. Tremblay, M.L.A., told Grouard that the Alberta government took to task for little it has accomplished since the start of the present session.

While the many changes taking place in the legislature, the Credit party he said, made it hard to keep track of what was going on, Mr. Tremblay said, Premier Aberhart for having abandoned the people's confidence.

Mr. Tremblay's actions in contrast with his wild re-election promises showed clearly, in the opinion of the speaker, that Mr. Aberhart was not sincere.

"He has failed to attempt to do anything to pink his platform," said Mr. Tremblay.

Premier Aberhart never intended to do anything to the people, why didn't he wake up when the election was up for discussion in case of a defeat?" he asked.

He said that among his supporters, one among his supporters said that he had to be a good credit man to his constituents.

Mr. Tremblay, a former district agriculturist, deplored the lack of culture shown by the members of the legislature.

One social credit member had gone so far as to ridicule programs in meeting in Grouard.

PLEDGES FULFILLED

Replying to the criticism levelled at the federal government and presented by Mr. Tremblay, shown above, Premier King said he already fulfilled most of his re-election pledges. As far as the Alberta region was concerned, he had left the province with all its public utilities and many programs in progress, including a sum of $1 million dollars as compared to the 10 million dollars left by the former government.

Harry H. Hallatt, monetary reformer, whose articles have been printed in the discussion, Andre M. Dechene was chairman.
